NEW YORK Café Boulud, an exquisite fine dining destination at The Surrey, offers a menu inspired by Chef Daniel Boulud's unique twist on traditional French cuisine. With a three-star New York Times review, the restaurant has also been awarded a Michelin star once again. And now you can even enjoy the exquisite food in your pyjamas, as the hotel offers Café Boulud room service! Visit: www.thesurrey.com/boulud-dining HAMBURG The Table, in northern Germany, received three Michelin stars in 2016, just one year after opening its doors. This makes Hamburg the only major German city with a three-Michelin-star restaurant. Visit: www.thetable-hamburg.de And while in Hamburg, don't miss the opportunity to feast at newly launched lakeside hotel The Fontenay. Visit: www.thefontenay.de/en/ LUXOR The pyramids may be old news, but tourism's booming in Egypt. With numerous recent hotel openings, including the Nile Ritz Carlton (right on the Nile), the Royal Kempinski and the JW Marriott's Mena House, which overlooks the pyramids, it's the perfect time to visit. Named the 2016 World Tourism Capital by the United Nations World Tourism Organisation, Luxor boasts the world's largest open-air museum, which contains a staggering one-third of all the world's monuments. To book your trip, visit: www.abercrombiekent.com LIJIANG This small village in Yunnan Province in western China is the perfect venue for Aman's new Amandayan Resort. Enjoy trips to the nearby Tiger Leaping Gorge and Jade Dragon Snow Mountain – two of the world's most beautiful spots. There's also a traditional spa to relax in after your adventures. Visit: www.aman.com/resorts/amandayan CARDIFF Wales might not be on the cards when you're planning a foodie trip, but this is the year it should be. The country's epicurean legends include handmade cheeses, salt marsh lamb, black beer and numerous craft ales. For a taste of the proud Welsh heritage, visit the Exchange Hotel on Mount Stuart Square, which opens this month. Visit: www.exchangehotelcardiff.co.uk TURKS AND CAICOS Right on Long Beach Bay – the private stretch of Providenciales – is where The Shore Club just opened. It's all about relaxed luxury: big suites with their very own secluded beach. Laze at the spa, play tennis, dine at one of the three restaurants or chill at the pool.
